

Do patents promote innovation? And copyright creativity?

Madrid, 21-22 May 2007

May 21st

- 10:00-10.30 Opening: Eulalia Pérez Sedeño (FECYT) & Miguel Requena (UNED)
10.30-11.30 S. Liebowitz, How much monopoly in the copyright "monopoly"
11.30-12.00 Coffee break
12.00-12.40 F. Alcalá & M. González, Artistic Creation and Intellectual Property
12.40-13.20 S. A. Russell, The Superstar Phenomenon: A Legal and Economic Analysis of Copyright Law in the Role of Incentives
13.20-15.00 Lunch
15.00-15.40 G. Llanes & S. Trento, Anticommons and patent pools in sequential innovation
15.40-16.40 D.K. Levine, Is Property Theft? The Case of Intellectual Property
16.40-17.00 Break
17.00-18.00 R. Stallman, "Intellectual property" = confusion. Whatever you say "about it" is wrong.

May 22nd

- 10.00-11.00 E. Valauskas, Notions of Copyright in an Open Access Journal: First Monday's Perspectives
11.00-12.00 E. Bustos & R. Feltrero, Do we need epistemological reasons to justify copyrighted scientific on-line journals?
12.00-12.30 Coffee break
12.30-13.10 S. Dey, Are Patents Discouraging Innovation?
13.10-13.50 E. F. Damsgaard, Patent Scope and Technology Choice
13.50-15.30 Lunch
15.30-16.30 R. Marimon, Competition, Innovation and Growth with Limited Commitment

Further information: <http://www.urrutiaelejalde.org/>